

MUSIC (MU)

MU 100 - Introduction To Music

Credits: 3

An introduction to concepts of musical style and structure in compositions representative of different historical periods with an aim to deepen the musical listening experience. Examination of the relationship of music to the humanities.

Note(s): Primarily for non-majors. Fulfills Humanities requirement; fulfills Humanistic Inquiry requirement.

MU 103 - The Symphony

Credits: 3

Major symphonic works from Haydn, Mozart, and Beethoven to Brahms, Mahler, and composers of the twentieth century.

Note(s): Fulfills Humanities requirement; fulfills Humanistic Inquiry requirement.

MU 106 - Great Composers

Credits: 3-4

A course focused on the music of one or two great composers. Recent offerings have included Mozart, Bach, Debussy and Ravel, and Schubert. This course may be repeated for credit at the discretion of the department.

Note(s): Fulfills humanities requirement; fulfills humanistic inquiry.

MU 107 - Aural Skills

Credits: 1

Development of ear-training skills by means of exercises in singing (prepared and at sight) and aural analysis (including dictation). Will require extensive practice outside of class and performance in class.

Prerequisites: Completion or current enrollment in MU 141 or MU 241 or permission of instructor.

Note(s): This course may be repeated for credit at the discretion of the department. Not for liberal arts credit.

MU 109 - Global Hip Hop

Credits: 3

An interdisciplinary study of hip hop. Students will identify current and historic elements of hip hop culture inside and outside of the United States. Hip hop culture may be understood as a youth arts movement and is therefore often misrepresented or portrayed negatively in the media or by outsiders. Students will develop the skills necessary to critically analyze hip hop culture through multimedia analysis, critical reading and listening, and discussion. Students will examine case studies in global hip hop from the five regional sites of Asia, Africa, Europe, Middle East, and South America and develop a community showcase at the end of the semester to share their learning with the Skidmore and Saratoga community.

Note(s): Fulfills Cultural Diversity and Humanities requirements; fulfills Humanistic Inquiry and Global Cultural Perspectives requirements.

MU 141 - Foundations of Theory and Musicianship

Credits: 4

A comprehensive and immersive introduction to fundamental skills and concepts in music, with an emphasis on active listening and creation. Through rudimentary theoretical training, targeted listening activities, and embodied approaches to pitch and rhythm, students will develop a sense of beat, meter, and tonality, applicable not only to Western classical styles, but non-Western, jazz, and popular genres as well. Students will be guided through aural techniques to distinguish elements of repetition, contour, texture, and timbre, and will learn to recognize and perform basic rhythmic and tonal patterns. By the end of this course, students will have gained the requisite skills to progress on to and be successful in MU 241. Meets three times a week, with an accompanying lab.

MU 200 - Thinking About Music

Credits: 3

An introduction to humanistic inquiry in music. Students will learn to think about music through a critical engagement with classical, traditional, and popular music of various times and places.

Note(s): Fulfills Humanities requirement; fulfills Humanistic Inquiry requirement.

MU 205 - Special Studies in Music Literature

Credits: 3-4

(This course may be repeated for credit at the discretion of the department.)

MU 208 - Music and Culture

Credits: 3

An inter cultural introduction to music as culture. Topics include voice types, instrument categorizations, pitch and time systems, musical structure, transcription/notation, and ethnography.

Note(s): Fulfills non-Western Cultures and Humanities requirements; fulfills Humanistic Inquiry requirement.

MU 209 - Music Cultures of Asia

Credits: 3

An introduction to Asian music cultures, including the music of India, China, Korea, Japan, Thailand, Indonesia, and the Philippines. Students will listen to, read about, and discuss musical examples from these regions, acquiring a set of region-specific terminology for each cultural area. Themes such as national and local identity, caste and social status, cosmology, gender, and transnational interchange in Asia will be explored through the study of music.

Note(s): Fulfills Global Cultural Perspectives and Humanistic Inquiry requirements.

MU 220 - British Rock and Popular Music in the 1960s

Credits: 3

An introduction to the musicians and musical styles of British rock and roll and pop music in the 1960s. Subjects will include the antecedents of British rock, the social contexts in which it flourished, and the evolution of the musical styles and forms in this milieu.

Note(s): Fulfills Humanities requirement; fulfills Humanistic Inquiry requirement.

MU 221 - The Fortepiano

Credits: 1

Some of the most familiar composers of music for the piano (including Mozart, Beethoven, Chopin, Mendelssohn, Schubert, and Schumann) would not recognize the instrument we play their music on today. The modern piano is just a little over a century old; its antecedent was the fortepiano. Students will learn about the mechanics of fortepianos, period performance practice (technique and style), and the social history of the instruments (who played them, when, and why). Texts will include 18th- and 19th-century primary sources as well as present-day scholarship, videos, and recordings. Every student will gain hands-on experience tuning and playing Skidmore's two fortepianos.

Prerequisites: Permission of instructor. and one year of private piano instruction.

Note(s): Fulfills Arts requirement; fulfills Artistic Inquiry requirement.

MU 231 - Writing About Music

Credits: 1

A writing-enhanced add-on to MU 241. Students will tackle the craft of writing, as well as the specific challenges of writing about music.

MU 232 - Writing About Music

Credits: 1

A writing-enhanced add-on to MU 242. Students will tackle the craft of writing, as well as the specific challenges of writing about music.

MU 233 - Writing About Music

Credits: 1

A writing-enhanced add-on to MU 243. Students will tackle the craft of writing, as well as the specific challenges of writing about music.

MU 241 - Materials and Structures I

Credits: 4

Following a brief review of the rudiments of pitch, rhythm, and meter, students will study the principles of species counterpoint and then proceed to write and analyze diatonic tonal harmony, with reference to musical literature, style, form, and compositional process. Diatonic tonal syntax is the foundation of Western art music from the seventeenth through the nineteenth centuries, as well as some jazz and popular music up to the present time. Examples will be chosen from a wide range of historical periods, musical styles, and traditions. Must be taken concurrently with MP 197.

Prerequisites: Diagnostic exam or MU 141.

Note(s): Fulfills Humanities requirement; fulfills Humanistic Inquiry requirement.

MU 242 - Materials and Structures II

Credits: 4

The second semester of theory will continue with the addition of chromatic harmony and the literature, style, forms, and compositional procedures associated with these expanded harmonic techniques, which appear in Western art music from the 18th to at least the early 20th centuries, and jazz. Topics will include chromatic chords, the resurgence of linear contrapuntal processes, modulation, and techniques that pushed to and beyond the limits of tonal harmony, such as expanded tertian chords, linear chromaticism, and finally the symmetrical scales and interval patterns associated with the dissolution of functional tonality.

Prerequisites: MU 241.

Note(s): Fulfills Humanities requirement; fulfills Humanistic Inquiry requirement.

MU 243 - Topics in Music Theory and Analysis

Credits: 4

Advanced study in theory and analysis, with repertoire and theoretical framework varying by instructor and by semester.

Prerequisites: MU 242.

MU 255 - Music Technology I: Introduction to Electronic Music, Composition, and Recording Studio Techniques

Credits: 3

Introduction to basic music technology, electronic music, and professional recording studio techniques and equipment. Study of elementary acoustics, MIDI, synthesizers, microphones, analog and digital multitrack recording, sound mixing, and processing. Introduction to works in various styles by established electronic composers.

Prerequisites: Ability to read music.

Note(s): Weekly studio/lab work.

Lab/Credit Fee: $50

MU 299 - Professional Internship in Music

Credits: 1-4

Internship opportunity for students whose curricular foundations and cocurricular experience have prepared them for professional work related to the major field. With faculty sponsorship and department approval, students may extend their educational experience into such areas as arts administration, recording, and archival work.

Prerequisites: Permission of the supervising faculty member and approval by the department.

Note(s): This course may be repeated for credit at the discretion of the department. Not for liberal arts credit.

MU 304 - American Music

Credits: 3

A survey of American music from its beginnings to its contemporary developments; includes study of the influence of folk music, jazz, and rock upon the mainstream of American musical life.

Note(s): Fulfills Humanities requirement; fulfills Humanistic Inquiry requirement.

MU 305 - Musical Orientalism in American Pop Culture

Credits: 4

An exploration of the ways Asian (formerly known as "Oriental") cultures, commodities, bodies, and sounds have been represented in American popular culture from the 19th century to the present. We will focus on a range of musical case studies to examine institutionalized and systematized projects of Othering and mis-representation and Asian subjectivities, voices of dissent, and aspects of self-Orientalism. Students will consider how sonic stereotypes have generated and maintained discourses of Orientalism in the U.S.; how the markers of "Asianness" (including "Chineseness," "Japaneseness," "Koreanness," "Vietnameseness," etc.) have changed over time in American society; and who has the authority to represent whom. Students will work in small groups to research a musical case study of their choosing and create a short documentary video discussing issues of representation and the implications of those representations for Asian communities in the United States.

Note(s): Fulfills Cultural Diversity requirement; fulfills Bridge Experience requirement.

MU 306 - History of Jazz in America

Credits: 3

A study of the evolution of jazz in America from its roots in various types of black folk music to its eventual emergence as an eclectic, contemporary art form. Special emphasis will be placed on the sociological implications of jazz as a genre of serious black music. Some consideration may be given to gospel, soul, and rock music, all of which are close relatives of jazz.

Prerequisites: MU 141 or permission of instructor.

MU 307 - Music and Society

Credits: 3

An introduction to interdisciplinary approaches to the study of music including the sociology, anthropology, and psychology of music. These approaches will be applied in selected areas such as education, religion, non-Western music, and popular music.

Note(s): Fulfills Humanities requirement; fulfills Humanistic Inquiry requirement.

MU 309 - Music in South Asia

Credits: 3

An examination of the major musical phenomena of the Indian subcontinent and their historical and cultural background. Topics include Hindustani and Karnatak classical musical styles, religious music, popular music, and selected regional genres.

Prerequisites: MU 141 or permission of instructor.

Note(s): Fulfills non-Western Cultures and Humanities requirements; fulfills Humanistic Inquiry and Global Cultural Perspectives requirements.

MU 310 - Music and Culture of East Asia

Credits: 4

An examination of music and culture in East Asia, focusing on three geographic regions: China/Taiwan/Hong Kong; Japan; and Korea. Students will study the areas' leading musical traditions, including main instruments, ensembles, and musical genres, and will investigate case studies from the 20th and 21st centuries. Particular attention will be given to music within significant social, political, and historical contexts.

Prerequisites: MU 141.

Note(s): Designated a non-Western culture course; fulfills humanities requirement; fulfills global cultural perspective.

MU 345 - Topics Seminar

Credits: 3-4

Specialized studies in topics to be announced each semester. Primarily for juniors and qualified sophomores.

Prerequisites: MU 200 and MU 242 or permission of instructor.

Note(s): This course may be repeated for credit at the discretion of the department. MU 345N fulfills non-Western Cultures requirement. MU 345N fulfills Global Cultural Perspectives requirement.

MU 352 - Film Scoring

Credits: 3

Music composition and audio production techniques for film, television and documentaries. Students will learn to compose and record original compositions using either computer virtual synthesizers or a music notation program to accompany and enhance video sequences from short films/videos, feature film excerpts and television and documentary films and videos. From romantic background music to exciting action sequences, students will learn the most effective ways of creating original music that enhances the images on the screen. Commercial shorts, feature films and documentaries will be studied and analyzed for musical content and production techniques which may be applicable to student projects in this course.

Prerequisites: MU 255 or MU 357.Note(s): Fulfills Arts requirement; fulfills Artistic Inquiry requirement.MU 353 - Music Technology II: Advanced Electronic Music, Composition, and Recording Studio Techniques

Credits: 3

Development of original compositions using advanced studio techniques. Areas of study include advanced MIDI projects, computer algorithms for composition and sound synthesis, synthesizer programming, audio (SMPTE) and video (VITC) time code synchronization, digital sampling, digital multitrack recording, automated digital mixing, digital mastering for compact disk, and audio for video. Study of works in various styles by established electronic composers.

Prerequisites: MU 255 or permission of instructor.Note(s): Weekly studio/lab work.Lab/Credit Fee: $50MU 354 - Analysis of Tonal Music

Credits: 3

Development of analytical techniques relevant to music of the tonal era.

Prerequisites: MU 242 or permission of instructor.MU 355 - Digital Orchestration

Credits: 3

Study of the capabilities of orchestral instruments and ways they may be combined using state of the art digital music notation and digital sound synthesis software and hardware. Final project is writing for full orchestra and is played and recorded by the college's semi-professional orchestra.

Prerequisites: MU 242 or permission of instructor.MU 356 - Tonal Counterpoint

Credits: 3

Study of the contrapuntal style of J.S. Bach and his contemporaries. Analysis and writing of inventions, chorale preludes, and fugues.

Prerequisites: MU 243 or MU 242 or permission of instructor.MU 357 - Composition

Credits: 3

Writing in smaller forms for various media.

Prerequisites: MU 243 or MU 242 or permission of instructor.MU 358 - Composition

Credits: 3

Writing in smaller forms for various media.

Prerequisites: MU 243 or MU 242 or permission of instructor.MU 359 - Advanced Composition

Credits: 3

Continuation of MU 357, MU 358 including writing in larger forms.

Prerequisites: MU 357, MU 358 or permission of instructor.MU 360 - Advanced Composition

Credits: 3

Continuation of MU 357, MU 358 including writing in larger forms.

Prerequisites: MU 357, MU 358 or permission of instructor.MU 361 - Topics in Recording Engineering and Computer Music Technology

Credits: 3

The study and practical application of advanced music technology topics chosen at the discretion of the instructor. Topics may include advanced MIDI applications; recording engineering, production, and marketing; digital synthesis, recording, and editing; intelligent synchronization; programming languages for synthesis and studies in psychoacoustics.

Prerequisites: MU 255, MU 353.Note(s): This course may be repeated for credit at the discretion of the department. Not for liberal arts credit.MU 362 - Jazz Theory

Credits: 4

Surveys major theoretical models in jazz theory since the field emerged in the 1950s. Students will learn the terms and concepts used in jazz theory, become acquainted with the academic literature on jazz theory, and analyze musical recordings and transcriptions through both oral presentations and written assignments.

Prerequisites: MU 242.MU 363 - Coda in Music
